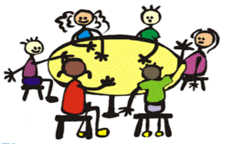
ISCAN

Integrated Service for Children with Additional Needs

ISCAN is a single point of access for referrals for children and young people with disabilities and developmental difficulties. Referrals are accepted for children / young people aged 0 – 18 years of age who are displaying concerns in two or more elements of their development. This includes referrals for children / young people requesting an assessment for ASD / ADHD. The referral needs to be completed by a professional and must outline clearly your child's / young person's difficulties. All referrals must have signed parent / carer consent. Full background information and up to date reports supporting the referral will enable the ISCAN team to make an informed decision about the next steps in managing your child's / young person's care.



Once ISCAN receive a referral form and relevant supporting information, we will list your child / young person for discussion at the ISCAN team meeting. The ISCAN team is made up of professionals including a paediatrician, consultant psychiatrist, paediatric specialist nurse, representation from the neuro-developmental team, therapy services, educational psychology service and local authority children with disabilities team. For those centres with family liaison officers, these will also be in attendance. An invitation is made to the referrer to attend the ISCAN team meeting to present the information.

Once a decision has been made about the best outcome for your child / young person, you, as the parent / carer, will receive a report confirming the outcome. The outcome may be that your child has been referred to services or, alternatively, ISCAN will provide information about services which are able to offer support and advice for you and your family. The report will also be sent to the referrer, your child / young person's school, educational psychologist, GP and any other relevant services. If your child / young person has been referred to another service, please note that waiting times can vary for different services.
